More Than 1,000 Registered at Beulah Camp Youth Institute

The annual Beulah Camp Youth Institute of the Southern Illinois Methodist conference opened yesterday at the Beulah Camp Grounds at Eldorado, where nearly 1,000 young people registered by mid-afternoon and 300 or 400 more were expected before night. Highlighting the program of the youngsters throughout the week will be the speaker for evening evangelistic services, Rev. R. A. Lippman, pastor of the First Methodist church of Metropolis, and Missionary Rev. Bill Davis of the Belgian Congo, Africa. The youths face a busy schedule every day of the week, with classes from 9 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., a required rest hour, and recreation throughout the afternoon. In the evening evangelistic services are held from 7 p. m. to 10:15. The recreational facilities are many, including softball, volleyball, table tennis, badminton and shuffleboard.

The youths are divided into two groups, the intermediates and seniors, with different schedules of classes for both. The intermediates include grades seven and eight, and the seniors are of high school age. Twelve classes are offered the intermediates, and the seniors have 27 classes from which to choose. Seniors register for three classes, while the intermediates schedule four.

The registrants at the camp are from an approximate 50 mile radius, ranging from Mattoon to Cairo. They are housed in cabins, with a sponsor in each structure, and attend classes in huge tents.

Some 140 cabins are used for the housing, in addition to several tents. Class tents number 15. One of the most popular buildings on the grounds is the concession stand, where soda pop and candies may be purchased. According to manager William Lirely, between 3500 and 4,000 bottles of pop are sold each day. Final enrollment figures are not yet known, but Dean William Henderson expects the number to top last year's enrollment of 1400.

Propellor Rips Loose, Woman Passenger Killed

WINDSOR, Ont. (U.P.)—A propeller blade flew off a Trans-Canada Viscount airliner 19,000 feet over Michigan Monday and whirled into the fuselage where it killed one passenger and injured five others. The four-engine, turbo-prop airplane, en route from Chicago to Toronto, Ont., with 31 passengers and 4 crew members, made an emergency landing on two engines at Windsor Airport.

Airline officials blamed the freak accident on a "runaway motor." The outside engine on the starboard wing lost the propeller while the plane was over Flat Rock, Mich. It also knocked out the adjacent engine, forcing the plane to land on its two port engines.

The dead woman was Mrs. Robert Lippert wife of Dr. Robert Lippert, Rochester, Minn. She was sitting with her two sons, Robert, 3, and James, 21 months. The boys were not injured although Robert was taken to a Windsor hospital suffering from shock. James was taken to the home of an airline official.

Also taken to the hospital were: Christopher Dumbell, 29, Dubuque, Iowa, leg fracture; his wife, Donna, 24, a leg injury; their son, Donald, 3, leg injury; Donovan Stevens, 47, Mundelein, Ill., severe neck cuts, and Rita Tobin, 24, stewardess, shock.

The grand lodge adopted a resolution authorizing a $1 per capita tax on the order's 1,173,000 members, for a fund to be used in case of a national emergency.

Bohn, 54, a partner in a Zanesville plumbing firm, beat out a fellow Ohioan, Cyril A. Kremser of Lakewood. The vote was 1,333-745. Bohn, married and the father of three daughters, is a former editor of the Zanesville Signal.

Black Widow Hatches Hundreds

One Black Widow . . . and then there were hundreds.

That's what happened when Loren Fleming put a Black Widow spider in a fruit jar, and fed it a steady diet of roaches and bugs.

Loren found the dreaded spider on his arm a couple of weeks ago, and decided to nurse it. Since then, the Widow has laid its eggs, and hundreds of tiny little spiders have been clinging to the webs their mother has spun. And not a one of them is black—they're all brown!

ICC Hearing at Eldorado July 24 On Phone Petition

The Illinois Commerce Commission has scheduled a hearing in Eldorado for July 24 on a proposal by the General Telephone Company to discontinue free telephone service between Eldorado and five area communities.

The telephone company proposes to discontinue free service from the Eldorado exchange to Equality, Omaha, Broughton, Raleigh and Galatia and the proposal is opposed by telephone users in those areas. Eldorado is leading the opposition, with the Chamber of Commerce and the Lions club taking an active part.

A hearing was held in Springfield Monday and Eldorado was represented by Mayor Carl Johnson and Attorney Joe Butler.

The hearing in Eldorado was ordered after a motion was made by Atty. Butler, it is reported.

A delegation from Raleigh was also present at Springfield yesterday and supported the motion to move the hearing to Eldorado, where it will be held in the city hall, July 24, starting at 9 a. m.

Plans Completed for 26th Annual Ozark Tour; Begins Sunday, July 15

Plans are completed for the 26th Annual Ozark Tour, starting from the Colonial hotel in Harrisburg on Sunday, July 15, at 1 p. m. CST.

The planning committee has been impressed by the scouting done by Lowell Dearing of Mt. Vernon. He has found wild, rustic, scenic surprises for this year's 3-day, overnight, explorer-camping trek into the remote valleys and bluffs of the Shawnee National Forest in the Illinois Ozarks from Lake Glendale to Goreville. Ideas are invited on any other attractions along the way like Indian camp sites, cool springs, caves, canyons, rocky crags, peculiar natural formations and sites of history or legend.

The committee is still accepting applications from new members. Cost has been figured at $20.00 for the shared expense of this non-profit adventure in promoting scenic Southern Illinois. Interested persons may write Ozark Tours, Box 433, Harrisburg, or call Harrisburg phone 812-R.

This is a men only tour except for Little Trigg Tour on Sunday P. M. and the basket picnic dinner at Lake Glendale on Sunday at 5:30 P. M. CST. Ozarkers and any others interested in coming in their own cars are invited to join in helping to welcome the Ozarkers on the Little Trigg Tour and the basket picnic dinner and to stay if they can to see the color slides and movies at the concession stand.

The Ozarkers have been searching for years for the rock candy crystal cave and the lemonade springs. Simpson mineral springs, near the Trigg forestry tower, just lacks a little juice. It has a copper mineral content with lemon-colored settings and is clear, cool and sweet.

Scouts have gone down by rope into the Brown Hole Cave, northeast of Cave-in-Rock, where it spreads out like a jug, 60 feet to the floor. In one gallery there is a crystal pillar from roof to floor. This column, two feet thick, must have been thousands of years in forming, with layer upon layer of thin crustation.

There will be the usual mountains of fried chicken, river of gravy, with islands of mashed potatoes and all of the country style trimmings and gallons of hot coffee and cold iced tea.

Discuss Area Water Problems At SIU Hearing

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Handling surface water so as to supplement existing supplies seems to underlie the problem of insufficient water resources in southern Illinois.

That is the conclusion voiced by State Senator Glen O. Jones, Raleigh, chairman of the Illinois Water and Drought Study Commission, in a public hearing Monday at Southern Illinois University. The commission heard reports from representatives of municipalities, industry, and agriculture. The group is holding public hearings throughout Illinois to obtain information on water and soil resources problems in the state.

A C. Stover, Granite City Steel Company, pointed out some of the problems of waste disposal and of obtaining water from the Mississippi River for various industries. He pointed out that his company returns to the river nearly all water taken out for industrial purposes.

Prof. N. G. P. Kraus, University of Illinois, reported that the University and the U. S. Department of Agriculture have just implemented a project to study the economic and legal aspects of agricultural water rights in Illinois.

The critical water shortage in some area cities during droughts were pointed out by R. E. Favreau, Carbondale, regional sanitary engineer, State Department of Health. He said that the problem has been aggravated by the fact that water consumption in these communities has gone up 200 to 300 percent in the last 20 years. More lakes are needed because most cities, except those near rivers, must depend on surface supplies in southern Illinois, he added.

Other speakers included Geoffrey Hughes, executive secretary of Southern Illinois Incorporated; Leslie Rogers, Perry County farm adviser, and Oliver Beinhof, SIU geographer.

Members of the commission present included: Jones, Senator Daniel Dougherty, Chicago; representatives Ralph T. Smith, Alton, and Homer Caton, Stanford; Mayor Ernest Hoagland, Jacksonville; John Butterfield, Pana; Fred W. Shappert, Belvidere; Earl Smith, Detroit; Andrew A. Ormiston, Springfield, commission executive secretary; and a representative for Clarence Klassen, Springfield, Division of Sanitary Engineering.

Violin, Picked Up For $4, Found to Be Worth $6,500

SOUTHINGTON, Conn. (U.P.)—Joseph Renkar, 50, was quite excited today about a violin he picked up at an auction for $4.

His son-in-law, Richard Casella of New Britain, told him the Wurliizer people in New York said it was worth at least $6,500.

Renkar, a drop forger in a Springfield, Mass., plant, was told that the instrument auctioned at New Haven was a famed Joseph Guarnerius violin made in 1731.

Eisenhower is Still Second Term Candidate

Select Clement Democratic Keynote Speaker

Announcement Follows Meeting of Convention Groups

CHICAGO (U.P.) — Democrat party leaders named Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee Monday to make the keynote speech at the party's convention Aug. 13.

Selection of Clement, a forthright backer of Adlai E. Stevenson, was seen as a favorable factor for Stevenson in his campaign for the party's presidential nomination.

National Chairman Paul M. Butler announced that Clement had been chosen from about 18 prominent Democrats under consideration for the assignment. The announcement followed the end of a long three-hour meeting of the joint convention arrangements and executive committee.

Happy With Selection

In Nashville, Tenn., Clement was reported to be "very happy" over news of his selection, but also said he preferred not to comment until officially notified. Clement, 36, is the nation's youngest governor.

Butler refused to say whether Clement's role as keynoter ruled him out as a vice-presidential nominee.

"I would leave that to anyone else's interpretation rather than my own," he said.

The keynote speaker traditionally is left outside the scramble for a place on the national ticket. Convention manager J. Leonard Reinsch, however, reminded reporters that the late Alben W. Barkley gained the vice-presidential nomination after making a fiery keynote speech in 1948.

Adlai Approves Choice

Butler said Clement's youth and his border state background "had some bearing" in the committee's choice. He said Clement will handle the racial segregation matter "in a way that will not be offensive to any segment of the population" and will cover the farm issue and other problems "influently and persuasively."

Adlai E. Stevenson said Clement was a "good choice who will adequately state the philosophy of the Democratic party." Frank McKinney, a Harriman supporter, echoed Stevenson and said Clement was "a good choice."

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—The Korean Veterans Bonus Commission today announced it has reached agreement on a bonus plan which would cost "5 or 6 million dollars more" than the 63 million-dollar limit set by Gov. William G. Stratton.

IPAC Funds Are Dwindling

CHICAGO (U.P.) — Funds for relief payments by the Illinois Public Aid Commission are dwindling according to Garrett W. Keaster, executive secretary of the commission.

Keaster said $2,026,958 will be paid this month. Remaining in the treasury at the end of July will be $14,659,965, he said, which "might last till February."

Keaster said the commission will have to ask the General Assembly for a multi-million-dollar appropriation when the Legislature meets in January.

No Headline News, Truman Says of Ike's Decision; Stevenson Delighted

By United Press
Former President Harry S. Truman said today it is not "headline news to me" that President Eisenhower will seek re-election.

Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential aspirant and Mr. Eisenhower's opponent in 1952, said he is "delighted to hear that the President feels in good enough health to run again."

Mr. Truman and Stevenson made their comments after breakfasting together in Chicago.

Mr. Truman told a news conference he expected all along that the President would seek a second term.

Stevenson said that "the nation will benefit in the coming months from a searching and vigorous debate on our urgent problems."

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said: "I assumed that he would be the candidate. I am glad he feels able to run. I hope he and Mrs. Eisenhower reached this decision without letting a lot of political pressure play a part."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.): "I am happy the President feels his health is such that he is up to an arduous campaign. It will be an arduous campaign."

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. predicted a "landslide victory in November" for the Republicans.

Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.): "I am not shocked. I am not surprised. I am pleased."

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine): "I thought he made that announcement very clear some months ago."

Rep. Frank W. Boykin (D-Ala.): "We are all very thankful that the President has regained his health. He's a great and good American."

Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (D-Ohio), chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee: "I still say that no matter who they run, we will win the presidency, the Senate, and the House."

Rotary Challenges Kiwanians to Baseball Game

The Rotary club's weekly meeting was held Monday with Lowden Pankey, club president, presiding.

H. W. Luecke, district manager of the C.I.P.S., was a guest of the club and was introduced by Louie Beltz. John Foster gave a talk on the points of interests in southern Illinois to be covered by the 26th Ozark tour to begin July 15.

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to the discussion of a possible baseball game between the Rotary club and the Kiwanis club. Out of this discussion came a challenge to the Kiwanis club to meet the Rotarians at the VFW park some night in the near future for a baseball game. The star-studded Rotary team would include the following well known athletes: Vic Mitchell, Pete Gardner, Eltis Henson, Mil'ard Lynch, G. C. Benson, Tom Davenport, Dr. Webb, George Davenport, Herman Barnett Jr., and Lowden Pankey. The team will practice Friday night at the ball field to prepare for the game, in the event the Kiwanis club should take up the challenge.

The meeting of the Rotary club next week will be in charge of Don Scott.

Announcement By Knowland Follows Meeting

Senate Leader Says President Remains in Race

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (U.P.) — President Eisenhower is still a candidate for a second term, it was announced today.

The disclosure was made to newsmen by Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, following a meeting with the President.

Knowland was asked whether the President "told you he is going to keep his hat in the ring?" "I'm telling you precisely that," Knowland replied.

"He and we are looking forward to a vigorous and active campaign under his leadership," Knowland added.

Regardless of all discussion, Knowland said "the fact remains he's in the race."

"In Better Shape"

Knowland said the President told him "he felt he is in better shape than he was when he made the announcement last Feb. 29" that he was going to run for a second term.

Knowland said Mr. Eisenhower feels he is just continuing his previous plans to run.

Knowland said he had not doubted that the President would run. But he added with a smile—"this clarifies the atmosphere."

The announcement ended the new wave of speculation about the President's second term intentions which followed his June 9 operation for an intestinal obstruction.

On Feb. 29—five months after his Sept. 24 heart attack—Mr. Eisenhower told the nation that he intended to run for another term. The announcement came after months of speculation and doubt.

After the President's recent illness, there again arose the question whether Mr. Eisenhower would run. Almost from the beginning, however, Republicans were sure the President would stay in the race.

The circumstances of today's announcement contrasted sharply with the manner in which the President originally announced his second term intentions.

His Feb. 29 announcement was made at a jam-packed White House news conference after weeks of uncertainty and suspense over his intentions. That night, the President went on radio and television

Mother Admits Drowning Six-Months-Old Baby

MILWAUKEE (U.P.) — A 36-year-old mother told police Monday night she drowned her 6-month-old daughter because a spiritualist warned her the child would grow up as an imbecile.

Mrs. Isabella Polenz, Chicago, confessed the slaying on the advice of a second spiritualist.

She said she drowned the infant, Chrystal Marie, in a bathtub in Chicago Monday afternoon. She said she dressed the baby, placed her in a crib, and left for Milwaukee. There she visited the Rev. F. Lorenz Lamping, who urged her to phone police.

Chicago authorities discovered the child's body in the room shortly after being notified by Milwaukee police.

Her husband, Jerome Polenz, 25, Cudahy, Wis., was shocked when he learned of his wife's act, and said he was unaware that she had been visiting a spiritualist. They had been separated "for financial reasons," he said.

New Roads, but the Same Old Scenery

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
by DREW PEARSON

(Drew Pearson Says: Russia forges ahead of U. S. on education; Russian education more dangerous than hydrogen bomb; GOP old guard killed school construction bill.)

WASHINGTON—While the House of Representatives was defeating the school construction bill last week, here is what was happening to education in Russia.

Forty years ago under the Czarist regime, Russian illiteracy was about 75 percent. Joe McCarthy will probably call anyone a Communist who reports it, but surveys show that illiteracy in Russia today is about the same as in the United States, may be even less. Reason is a seven-year system of compulsory primary education, which under the new five-year plan will soon be extended to ten years.

In other words, Russian youngsters will be compelled to take three years of high school. In most of the USA, high school is not compulsory.

This ten-year program is already in effect in Russia's larger cities. Its emphasis is being placed on science and technology. During the last six of the ten years, forty percent of the curriculum is devoted to science and mathematics, with six years of foreign language, usually English, to help Russian engineers keep abreast of American science.

Today the USSR has 35,000,000 people registered in schools, including workers taking night courses. If other adult and correspondence courses are included, the figure is probably around 60,000,000.

In institutions above the high school level, the Russians have 4,300,000 enrolled. This, however, includes technical and manual training schools. The United States has 3,000,000 students in colleges and universities, which is probably higher than the number of Russian students strictly in college and universities.

As a result of this concentration on technical training the USSR is already ahead of us in turning out engineers. A total of 53,000 were graduated in 1954 as against 23,000 in the USA. Last month the USA graduated only 228 teachers of physics to teach in 37,000 high schools. Yet it is the physicists who are needed most to work on atomic energy.

No wonder Khrushchev boasted in Burma: "We shall see who has more engineers, the United States or the Soviet Union."

In the same breath he offered to build a technical institute in Rangoon for the Burmese.

U. S. TEACHER SHORTAGE

While Russia is turning out more and more engineers and teachers, the National Education Association estimates that the USA has a shortage of 128,000 teachers, with 900,000 pupils going to school in shifts because of the school room shortage. A total of 96,079 teachers were graduated in June, but the nation will need twice that many to keep up with deaths, retirement, and the increasing birth-rate.

The U. S. Office of Education estimates that the USA will have to spend $3,000,000,000 a year—state, local and federal—to meet the needs of the next four years. Today we are spending only $2,700,000,000 and the Kelly bill, defeated in the House last week, provided only $400,000,000 a year for four years.

All this is why more and more neutralist countries are sending students to Russian universities; also why they are going to Moscow for Russian technicians despite the American technical aid program.

Note—According to ex-Senator William Benton of Connecticut, recently returned from Russia: "Russian education is a bigger threat than the hydrogen bomb."

EDUCATION MERRY-GO-ROUND

No legislation was given a more tragic run-around than the school construction bill . . . Conservative Republicans really killed it. They voted for the Powell amendment putting an anti-segregation clause in the bill which they knew would help to kill it. Then having loaded it up with this amendment, they turned around and voted against the entire unwieldy package . . . Ex-Speaker Joe Martin and GOP Leader Charlie Hallack of Indiana long made no secret that they didn't want a school bill. They regarded it as socialistic—New Dealish. The Powell amendment was the easy way out . . . Also this put the Democrats on the hook with Negro voters . . . Adam Clayton Powell, the Negro congressman from Harlem, is a great pal of Joe Martin's, even though a Democrat. How much Powell really wanted a school bill is doubtful. Only two weeks ago he stayed away from a committee hearing on a proposal by Congressman Udall (D. Ariz.) much more likely to pass. It would have given extra help to schools below the Mason-Dixon line which integrated. Powell didn't even bother to attend the Education Committee meeting and vote . . . He also stayed away from the Hall's Canyon Committee hearing, thereby helping Republicans block a vote on Hall's Canyon by protesting "no quorum." . . . President Eisenhower made no last minute appeal to pass the school bill as he did his Foreign Aid bill. White House lobbyists were active last week trying to hush up an investigation of Ike's old West Point classmate, General Joe Swing. But no wires were pulled by the White House lobbyists for the school bill.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Jack McCloy, head of the Chase Bank and a potent power in GOP politics has added his weight to those trying to maneuver Vice President Nixon off the ticket . . . Paul Hoffman, head of Studebaker-Packard, and administrator of the Marshall Plan, is another . . . Young Aletha Gibson the Negro tennis star, has done a fine job of winning friends for the USA in Europe. The State Department was smart to send her there . . . Democratic leaders meeting privately in Washington asked Adlai's manager James Finnegan why he was so confident Stevenson would be nominated. "The governor said so," was Finnegan's bland reply . . . Tom Dewey is taking his law practice seriously. He spent laborious hours preparing and arguing a case for Schenley Distillers, Inc., against the government. Schenley seeks to pay the excise tax on whiskey only when the distiller withdraws it from bond. The government in the past has been forcing distillers to pay the tax—$10.50 per gallon—after the whiskey has been in bond eight years. Schenley claims it has the right to age and bond its whiskey longer if it wants to, need only pay the tax when it sells, not after an arbitrary eight-year deadline.

Illinois Farmers to Receive Six Million Federal Refunds on Gasoline Tax

By WARREN STROTHER
United Press Staff Correspondent

Illinois farmers, who already get more than $10,000,000 a year in state gas tax refunds, will pocket an extra $6,000,000 in federal refunds soon.

The Illinois Agricultural Assn. gave the $6,000,000 estimate, based on new federal tax legislation.

The IAA said a new federal law providing a refund of the two-cent federal tax to farmers, like the state tax refund will mean $4,000,000 to Illinoisans.

An extra $2,000,000 refund will result from the new federal highway bill, which boosts the federal gas tax to three cents a gallon.

The state revenue department at Springfield reported a total of $10,030,273 was refunded to Illinois farmers in 1955, under the state highway "use" or motor fuel tax. The money went to 271,518 claimants.

Tax On All Gas

Only gasoline used on the state's highways is supposed to be taxed, to help pay for the highways. But the five-cent a gallon state tax is collected on all gasoline sold.

Farmers are required by law to claim their refunds within four months after the gas is used for off-the-highway purposes. But the revenue department tries to get all claims in within four months after the gasoline is purchased.

A revenue department spokesman said the problem of fraudulent claims for refunds on gas used for highway vehicles, instead of in tractors and other farm machinery, "has been pretty well licked."

"Farmers have to make application for the refunds, and support their application with purchase data and proof that the gasoline actually was used for off-the-highway purposes," he said.

Make Spot Checks

"In addition, we make spot checks on the farms where the gasoline is used, particularly where large refunds are claimed," he said.

All gasoline used for non-highway purposes is covered by the refunds. The department said total refunds for all purposes totaled $13,249,569, about $1,500,000 of it for gasoline for airplanes, and the difference for industrial and miscellaneous use.

Federal refunds will be made on the basis of semi-annual claims filed with the Internal Revenue Service. Gasoline purchased since Dec. 31, 1955, will be eligible for the refund.

A narrow gauge railroad from Quito to Guayaquil, Ecuador, is expected to be completed this year. It has taken 3,000 men working on and off since 1914 to put the roadbed through 228 miles of mountains and jungle.

Helpful Free Book For Folks Who Are A Little Hard of Hearing

NEW YORK (Special) — A hope-filled new book for folks who aren't deaf, but just a little hard of hearing, was hailed by S. F. Posen, noted acoustical scientist.

Posen stated, "This valuable book can be a blessed comfort to folks who ask themselves: What caused me to lose some of my hearing? What can I do about it now? Will it get better or worse? If it gets worse, what can I do to overcome it?"

This authoritative book also reveals how new miracle electronic inventions make conversational hearing aids obsolete. There's no need to wear a button in the ear, no cord, nothing to hide in the hair or clothes.

To acquaint readers of this newspaper with all the facts, this valuable book will be sent free on request. No obligation. Write: Dept. 2-482 Beltone Hearing Aid Co., 2900 W. 36th St., Chicago 32. A postcard will do.

Eisenhower is Still

Second Term Candidate

to explain his decision to the nation. Today's announcement came almost casually.

Emphasis on Foreign Aid

Knowland said the word that the President is still a candidate came up about midway in his discussion of the current legislative program with Knowland and other Republican leaders. The actual confirmation, Knowland said, came during a discussion of the administration's embattled foreign aid program.

At this point, Knowland said the President "made it very clear that he is going to make a vigorous fight" for the mutual security program "during the campaign." "He said he was going to take a very vigorous interest in this legislation during the campaign. His remarks made then left no doubt that the President will be a candidate in November."

Knowland in response to questions said that the President did not know that the Republican leaders were going to make the dramatic announcement to reporters. But he said he had told the President that they were going to talk with newsmen about their meeting with him here.

The announcement was made by Knowland in the President's temporary office of Gettysburg College. He opened the office only today to receive the legislative leaders.

Tanned and Rested

The President was not in the room, however, when the word was passed that the President is still a second term candidate. He had posed briefly on the steps of the college building, and then motored back to his farm. News-men then were invited back into the President's office to meet with Knowland who had been a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination before Mr. Eisenhower made his Feb. 29 announcement.

Knowland said the extent to which the President plans to campaign was not discussed. But he said it was obvious the President is taking a "keen interest" in politics.

Reporters got a good look at the President as he left the building. He was more tanned and more rested looking than when he left Walter Reed hospital on June 30.

Tall Drifter

By W. Edmunds Claussen

XXIX
Milo Hackett felt freer and took a deep satisfying breath. It had been a pretty strong order for Norring to give. It was an out-and-out order for murder.

Norrington pulled on his wide-brimmed black hat. He was at the door when Milo asked flatly: "What do you want me to do about Yates?"

Norrington gave him a close and callous look across his shoulder. "I want you to get Ude. That's the important thing. If meantime, you find Chantry tell him to look in at his office. About Yates—he deserves the same as Ude."

Milo smiled as Norring walked off toward Chantry's office. Milo's luck was changing. He had it all dished out the way he wanted. The order to kill Frank Ude was seconded in importance by his boss' remarks about Yates. Milo had been given a free hand in both instances. Yates was here in Cash-town now, and would warrant first attention.

Norrington, meantime, arrived at Chantry's office without finding trace of the sheriff. He was determined this time he'd wait for Lew Chantry until he returned.

He was still smiling as he reached for the bracket lantern and rubbed a match across his pants.

He felt this pleasure run through his veins warm and full and then his concentration sharpened. He'd been in this office twice before, and twice tonight he'd missed it. Slowly he reached out a hand and touched the knife that Chantry had tipped into his scarred desk top.

His fingers ran up and down the hard butcher's cord covering the handle. His thumb nail ran across the blade's edge finding it razor keen. There was even the faint letter R scrawled in the blade's opposite side which settled the issue in Norring's mind.

This was the skinning knife Milo had brought back earlier in the week. He had tossed it arrogantly onto Norring's desk, his face wearing an insolent leer as Steve let his eyes lift. Hackett was as vain as the oldtime trappers and must lift a scalp when he counted coup. The knife had been brought in as proof that Rambaut was dead.

Hackett had later passed the knife along to the roustabout Frank Ude had killed this evening. The man hadn't used a knife on Ude, though he had been told to. Certain facets of Lew Chantry's recent behavior returned to memory. He read Chantry to be worried—worried over more and deeper matters than Yates being hidden in this town. He was sure the man Ude had killed had had trouble with Chantry, had probably thrown the knife and Lew Chantry had saved it. The weapon bearing the initial of a dead man, being thrown at his belly, would have a morbid fascination for the lawman.

A sudden idea came to him. There was a small flat-roofed stable behind the jail where the lawman kept his horse. If the animal was gone he would know for certain Chantry was not in Cashtown. He walked out, still carrying the knife between his fingers, crossed the plankwalk and ran to the stable in the rear. The rusty door squealed in opening. With a hand now trembling he scratched a match. The flame went out almost as quickly as it had appeared. But Norring knew now. The stall was empty.

Lily had been unable to sleep. Prowling through the empty hotel corridor she had seen Norring stalking toward the lower end of town.

She blamed Norring now for Rambaut's death; she blamed him for the despondent mood that gripped her. As he disappeared down-block she wheeled, strangely sober, and headed back to her sitting room. She put her dark cloak over the white dress she wore. Then she paused beside a small, hand-carved mahogany box on her table.

From this she drew a .41 caliber derringer and slipped it into the slash pocket of her cloak. She hurried rapidly out through the hallway.

She saw Norring backing from Lew Chantry's office.

She must reach Norring somehow. She was going to kill him! At once feine slyness crept into her voice.

"Steve? Steve, where are you?" There was unmistakable relief in Norring's answer. "Here, Lily," he said.

His hand reached out searchingly. He froze this way with his fingers still empty. A solitary shot sounded from uptown. It would be the Corbin House. The courtyard.

"What was that, Steve?"

His fingers fumbled through his pocket searching another match. When he found it he reached out, touching the rough wooden stall a yard from him. He told her quietly, "That was probably Milo. Milo and Jonathan Yates."

She fired the derringer and missed.

She turned, throwing herself at him. His mind still carried a thrill warning: There were probably two shots in her derringer.

Then she tripped and fell against him. He felt the hardness of the gun barrel, expecting the second shot at any moment. His right hand held the knife he had withdrawn from Chantry's desk. He had thrown this hand backward. Now he brought it forward with plunging power. He felt Lily falling beneath him. He withdrew his hand from the skinning knife's handle.

He slipped to one knee on the littered stable floor, striking his third match. He shook it swiftly out. Lily's dead mouth had been formed into a smile.

Grandmother, 81, Wins Trim Ankles Contest

HEREFORD, England (U.P.)—A "trimmest ankles" contest was a highlight of a church festival here and all the contestants were lined up behind a curtain, with only their feet and ankles visible.

The contest judge, Dr. Cyril Francis, studied the demure display of ankles at length and finally pointed to the winning pair—"the trimmest I've seen in years."

The curtain was lifted and the winner stepped out. She was Mrs. Gertrude Pritchard, an 81-year-old grandmother.

Will Bing Be Hollywood's '56 Bridegroom?

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—Will Bing Crosby became the Hollywood bridegroom of 1956?

His girl friend of two years reportedly has taken another step that could make her his bride, but the crooner's pals insist there's "still nothing definite."

Hollywood observers who think the 32-year-old Crosby will wed 22-year-old Kathryn Grant gained another point this week when word got around she has been converted to his religion, Catholicism.

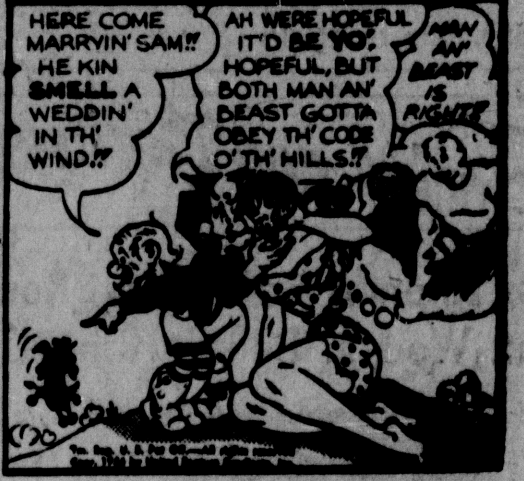

Kathy curiously refused to either confirm or deny the report. She merely says, "I have never made a statement about it and I don't intend to."

But her acquaintances say she told them she has completed her Catholic studies and "she started them after she began to go out with Bing."

The world's most famous popular singer and the little brunette from Texas have been keeping steady company for more than two years. Although Bing has dated actress Mona Freeman, Kathy has been his only steady companion since his wife, Dixie, died in 1952.

Kathy visited Bing often at his Palm Springs home during the winter. She has been hostess at his home when he entertained friends, including a wedding party of his pal, Producer Bill Murray and his bride.

But other friends of the pair are equally sure Crosby never will marry the girl who is 30 years his junior.

"Bing is just lonely and not interested in looking elsewhere for a companion," one friend says.

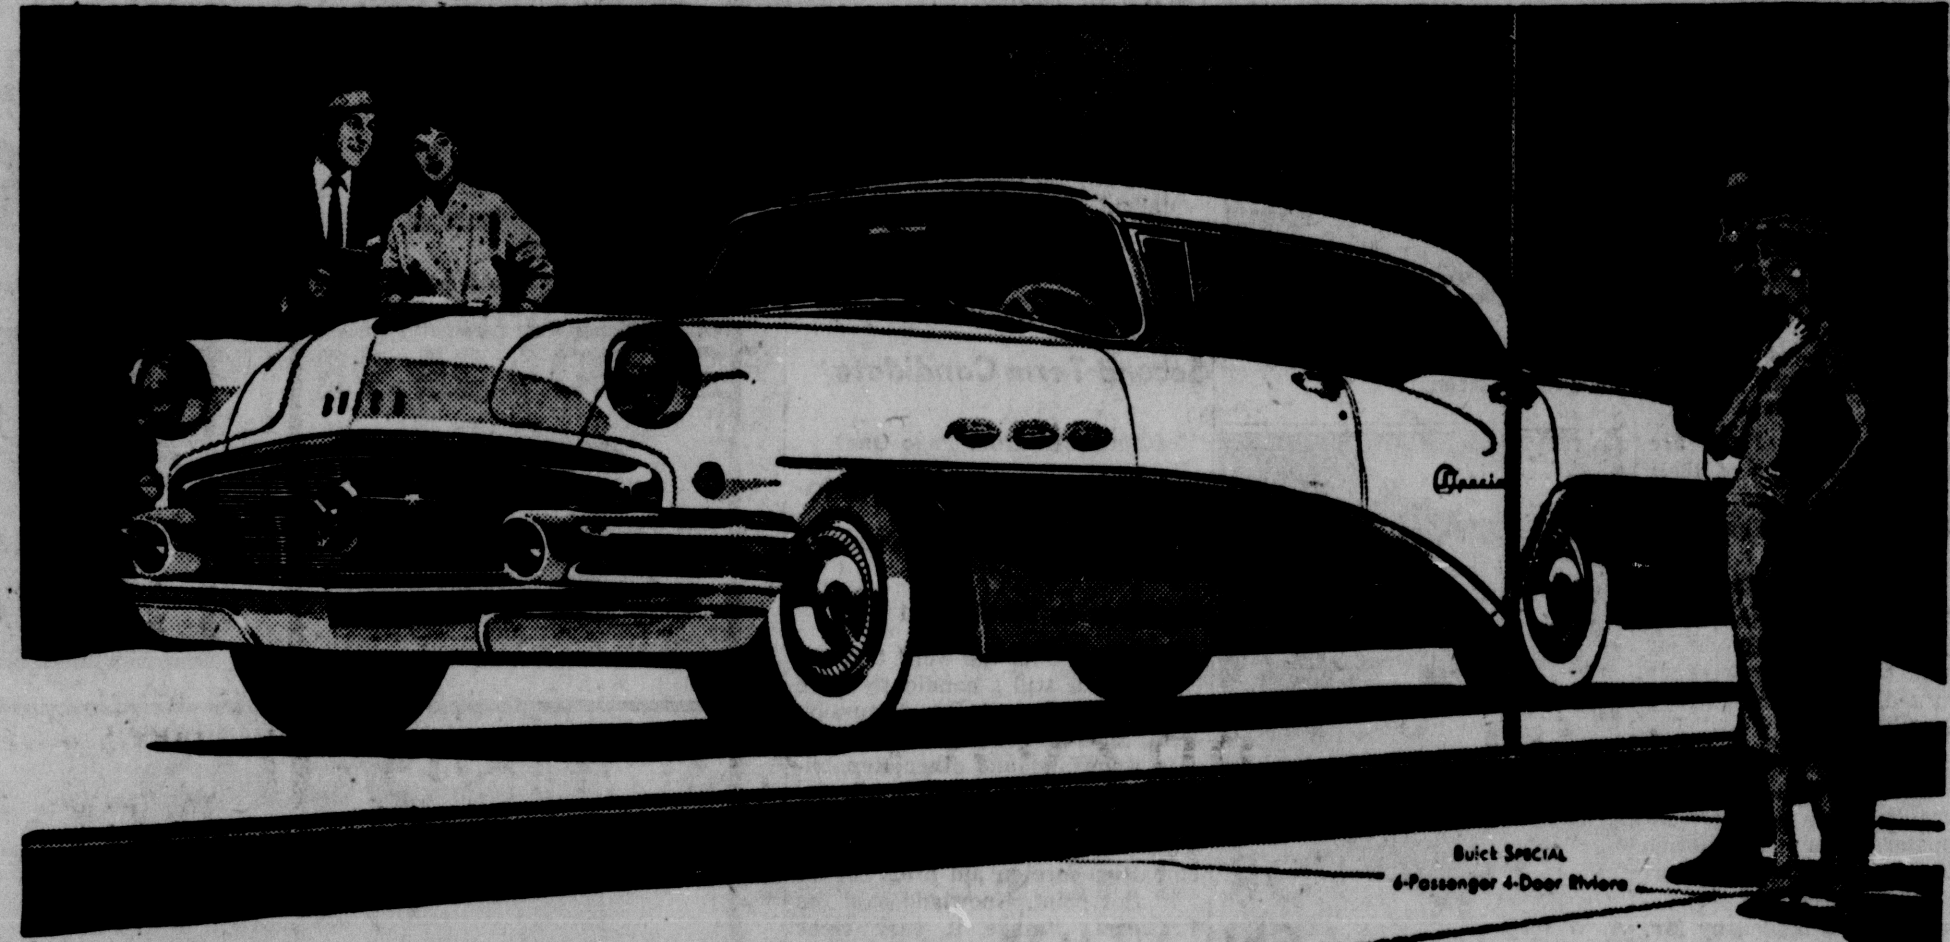

"I don't think he'll ever marry again."

"And why shouldn't Kathy give him all of her time? She's young with plenty of years ahead of her to look for a husband. Right now she's an ambitious girl planning on an acting career."

Bury 67 Victims of Air Disaster In 'Grand Canyon Memorial Plot'

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (U) — Sixty-seven victims of commercial aviation's worst disaster were buried Monday on a gentle slope in the "Grand Canyon memorial plot" of Flagstaff Cemetery.

All but 3 of the 70 persons aboard the TWA Super Constellation which apparently collided June 30 with a United Air Liner high above Grand Canyon were buried in the plot. The three other victims were to be buried in their home towns. Fifty-eight persons were killed in the UAL plane.

The mass burial services were conducted by a clergyman from each of the Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish faiths. A Mormon clergyman also was present. More than 1,000 solemn-faced spectators, including some 400 mourners, attended the services 85 miles from the scenic and awesome canyon where 128 persons met death in the two-plane crash.

The remains of the victims, most of them not positively identified, were placed in 67 coffins on a wooden platform above a grave 72 feet long, 24 feet wide and 6 feet deep.

At the far corner, a tiny casket stood out among the other flower decked coffins. This was the final resting place for the 3-week-old unnamed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Maag, Los Angeles. All three were victims of the crash.

An armed forces color guard also participated in the services to pay last respects to the four military dead. The color guard included members of the helicopter crew which risked death to recover body fragments from the treacherous gorge.

Only a few spectators stood by as workmen lowered the caskets into the mass pit following the hour-long ceremony.

Separate services were pending later for the 58 passengers and crew members aboard the ill-fated UAL DC7.

While the services were being held in the shadows of the towering San Francisco peaks, Army helicopter pilots made their final trip into the canyon to remove the Swiss and American mountain climbing teams which throughout the week had collected body remnants on a perilous butte where the UAL plane crashed.

The mission was completed just a week after the first victims were removed from the TWA plane. The giant airliners crashed within a mile of each other in the rugged gorge.

Coutrakon Says Stratton Urges Full Investigation of Possible Misappropriation

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton has urged a "thorough and complete investigation" of alleged "possible misappropriation of funds" in the office of State Auditor Orrville E. Hodge, State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon announced today.

"Stratton has expressed a deep concern and interest that my office make a thorough and complete investigation and that proper legal action be taken against all culpable parties wherever evidence is uncovered to support criminal charges," Coutrakon said.

Coutrakon said State Treasurer Warren Wright and Atty. Gen. Latham Castle, as well as Stratton, have offered him "the full cooperation and facilities of their offices" for the investigation.

Coutrakon Monday announced a grand jury would convene July 23 for a "full scale investigation" of the matter, involving "hundreds" of "missing" checks and "half a million dollars."

Earlier Coutrakon said Hodge contacted him Monday night from Chicago and said he would come to Springfield for a meeting with Coutrakon this afternoon.

J. Waldo Ackerman, first assistant state's attorney, said two of Hodge's top aides, Lloyd Lane and Edward A. Epping also have reported to Coutrakon's office that they have returned to Springfield and would be available for questioning concerning state warrants now under investigation.

Epping Retains Counsel

Earlier Lane was reported on vacation and Epping at East St. Louis.

Ackerman said both Epping and Lane appear to have authorized the vouchers supporting the state

Mother of Baby Files Complaint Against 2 Men

NEW YORK (AP)—The heart-broken mother of kidnapped Peter Weinberger went to court today to make a formal complaint against two men who raised and then cruelly dashed her hopes that the 30-day-old child would be restored to her.

Mrs. Betty Weinberger, accompanied by a Nassau County detective and her uncle, arrived at Ridgewood County Court 25 minutes before the scheduled arraignment of the two men charged with luring her to a rendezvous Sunday night in an attempt to steal $5,000 in ransom money.

She appeared composed. Her only comment to newsmen was: "I just feel sorry for the women," a reference to the wives of the arrested men, Robert Giebler, 29, and Thomas Rowell, 24.

Two rows behind Mrs. Weinberger in the courtroom sat Mrs. Adriane Rowell, a bride of three months, and Mrs. Barbara Giebler, expecting her fourth child.

Mrs. Rowell said she and her husband had an argument on Sunday afternoon. "He wanted to stay at my mother's for dinner, and I wanted to go for a drive. After the argument he took me home and drove away. That's the last I saw of him."

On that evening, police charge, Rowell was the ringleader and Giebler his collaborator in four telephone calls to the Weinberger home in suburban Westbury.

Ask Druggists Help

Peter, then 32 days old, was stolen from his carriage on the patio of his family's home in a fashionable suburban development about 3 p. m. July 4.

Police said the false calls have raised doubts that any attempt to reach the family has been made by the real abductor of the child.

The FBI is expected to enter the case Wednesday.

The alarm was a long shot, since there appeared to be little likelihood the kidnaper would knowingly give himself away by asking for the vitamin.

Will Question Buyers

Authorities asked druggists to question closely anyone asking for a vitamin preparation called Doxex B-12. The preparation was prescribed for the Weinberger baby before he was abducted.

Stamford, Conn., police reported Sunday night that a man tried to buy Doxex in a Stamford drug store but left after a clerk told him there was none on hand. The clerk didn't realize the possible significance until the man had left and police were unable to trace the would-be purchaser.

President Asks Four Billion in Foreign Aid Funds

By United Press

President Eisenhower asked Congress today to put up not less than four billion dollars for foreign aid in its rush to adjourn for the election campaign.

Meeting with his legislative leaders at Gettysburg, the President said he feels "very strongly" that Congress should at least match in dollars the ceiling it put on foreign aid spending in the authorization bill it dropped on his desk Monday.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland told newsmen after the meeting that a foreign aid appropriation equal to the authorization was high on Mr. Eisenhower's priority list of bills for the waning days of the session.

Also listed was a bill for $1,000,000,000 in federal aid for school construction. The House last week killed the measure in a fight over segregation. Knowland said he hopes it can be reintroduced and approved before Congress adjourns.

FBI to Officially Enter Hunt for Baby Kidnaper

WASHINGTON (AP)—At 3 p. m. EDT Wednesday, the FBI can officially enter the hunt for the kidnaper of the Weinberger baby. At that time, a full week will have passed since the child's abduction.

Under federal law, a seven-day waiting period must elapse before the FBI can enter a kidnapping case, unless there is an immediate indication that the kidnaper fled across state lines or that some other interstate violation is involved. After seven days it is automatically assumed that the criminal has fled the state where the crime was committed and the FBI may then step in.

A spokesman refused to break the official silence in Washington on whether the FBI will immediately throw its full weight Wednesday into the Weinberger case. It is known, however, that G-men have been cooperating with New York state authorities and are fully abreast of developments in the case.

The spokesman said that thus far no evidence has turned up to indicate that either the ransom note or the telephone contacts made by the abductor with the Weinbergers have been made across state lines.

The federal kidnapping statute, passed by Congress during a wave of national horror over the kidnapping of the son of Charles A. Lindbergh, carries the death penalty. A number of so-called "little Lindbergh laws" passed by states duplicate the penalty.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has pointed out that the primary interest of all authorities in such cases is the victim—not the abductor.

"When kidnappings occur, the first concern of the FBI and other law enforcement agencies is always the safe return of the victim," he said.

Seeks to Collect Million for 10 Pound Revolutionary Note

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—A local businessman turned to Uncle Sam today to see what can be done about collecting more than one million dollars on a Revolutionary War 10-pound promissory note.

Percy W. Dake found through some exhaustive historical research that the U. S. government had assumed all obligations of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in 1780, and that "therefore made the government responsible" for payment of the note.

A 10-pound note, dated Feb. 19, 1777, came into Dake's possession through a brother who had acquired it from an antique dealer. At simple interest rates, the note would now be worth only $330.40 but when compounded over the long period of time, the note would be worth $1,005,109.32. The note called for an interest rate of 6 per cent.

Wortman Called To Testify Before Federal Jury

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—U. S. Atty. John B. Stoddard Jr. today called Frank (Buster) Wortman, Collinsville, to testify before a federal grand jury investigating alleged gambling in Madison and St. Clair counties.

Stoddard said Wortman, "notorious" for his "gambling connections" would be the only witness called in connection with the gambling-income tax evasion investigation "at this time."

"We intend to inquire into general conditions as may apply to internal revenue laws with respect to gambling," Stoddard said.

The jury began an investigation of possible tax evasion in connection with gambling activities in the area last May, after James R. Jones, 42, Alton, was sentenced to a year in prison for "willful evasion" of $870 in income taxes.

Jones was charged with obtaining unreported income from "shooting craps, gambling and the selling of lottery tickets of the notorious policy game at Lovejoy, Ill."

Stoddard said Wortman probably would be asked about the alleged slugging of an Internal Revenue Service agent at an East St. Louis tavern July 1, but that case is not in Stoddard's jurisdiction.

Charge Mother with Beating Stepdaughter With Cat-of-Nine-Tails

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Julia Oss, 29, will be tried Thursday on charges of beating her 7-year-old stepdaughter with a cat-of-nine-tails.

Mrs. Oss stood mute at her arraignment Monday and was freed on personal bond.

Police said the woman admitted beating the child, Carol Sue, with a leather belt cut into a whip when the girl chipped a dishpan.

Land Emergency Supplies on Island Hit by Earthquake

ATHENS (AP)—A U. S. Navy destroyer and Greek rescue teams landed emergency supplies today on the tiny volcanic island of Thera, where thousands of survivors were left homeless by an earthquake, a volcanic eruption and a giant tidal wave.

Latest reports said 57 persons, mostly women and children, were killed and nearly 100 were injured in the disaster which rocked Greece's Cyclades and Dodecanese islands in the Aegean Sea Monday.

A U. S. Navy official in Athens said a destroyer from the U. S. 8th Fleet rushed emergency equipment to the area.

Rats and mice usually start searching for food after sunset each day.

Ore Ship, Sailboat Collide; One Man Missing

CHICAGO (AP)—The Coast Guard today reported one man missing in Lake Michigan following the collision early this morning of an ore boat and a 40-foot sailboat six miles off Chicago's Navy Pier.

The missing man was identified as Carl Hahill, about 50, of Chicago, a radio repairman. The Coast Guard said he apparently went down when the sailboat, the Huntress, sank.

His Last Switch in Motor Cars !

We have no way of knowing, of course, how many different makes of motor cars this gentleman has owned through the years. But we'd wager that he has changed his preference a great many times in his years on the highway.

And we're also willing to bet that he has now made his last switch in motor cars!

For this time it's a Cadillac! And it is historically true that once a motorist makes the move to the "car of cars", he is usually a Cadillac owner for life.

What are the reasons for this great devotion and loyalty? Well, let us count them off.

First of all, there are the things which everyone recognizes in Cadillac. There is its great beauty . . . its matchless luxury . . . and the unquestioned respect which the car commands the world over.

Then there are those qualities with which anyone who has ever driven a Cadillac is familiar. There is its marvelous comfort and ease of handling . . . its magnificent power and performance . . . and its wonderful balance and agility.

And, finally, there are those things which only Cadillac owners themselves can fully appreciate. There is the car's remarkable economy of operation and upkeep—its incredible longevity—and its marvelous resale value.

Incidentally we have recently made two very important additions to this list of things you get when you make your decision for Cadillac.

We're talking about prompt delivery and a generous trade-in allowance!

Better come in while the circumstances are so favorable—and make your last switch in motor cars!

We'll be delighted to see you at any time.

Denver Places Eight Players On All-Star Team

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Top-rated Denver in the American Association pennant race, placed eight players on the league's All-Star team announced Monday.

The Denver Bears placed its entire infield on the team as a result of balloting by fans. The Bears' Tony Kubek led all nominees. The 20-year-old shortstop polled 25,923 votes.

The All-Star team included Denver pitchers Jim Depalo and Ralph Terry, catcher Darrell Johnson, infielders Marvin Thorneberry, Woody Helo and Bobby Richardson, and outfielder Bob Martyn.

In the remaining 11 players were included Omaha's pitcher Tom Cheney and outfielder Charley Peete.

Bill Harrell of Indianapolis made the squad as a utility infielder, as did Wichita's third baseman Harry Hanerink.

Also on the All-Star pitching staff were hurlers Jim Bunning of Charleston, Ted Abernathy of Louisville and John Jancec of St. Paul; catchers John Bucha of St. Paul and Wilburn Jenkins of Minneapolis; and outfielders Willie Kirkland of Minneapolis and Danny Schell of Omaha.

The All-Star squad was brought to strength of 21 with the naming of pitchers George Schults of Omaha and Bob Thollander of Louisville by All-Star Manager Johnny Keane.

Indianapolis' Kerby Farrell was named coach and veteran first baseman - outfielder Mo Mazali was named his assistant.

Association President Ed Dougherty said Denver would be host to the All-Star game July 16. Denver players, however, will not compete in the game as members of the All-Star squad. Instead, they will provide the opposition in the renewal of the series which began in 1934.

Players who will take the place of the Denver men voted places on the All-Star roster by fans included, infielders Larry Raines of Indianapolis, Gail Harris of Minneapolis, Lyle Olsen of St. Paul, and Harry Malmberg of Charleston; outfielder Earl Hersh of Wichita; pitchers Gene Host of Charleston and Charles Gorin of Wichita, and catcher Russ Nixon of Indianapolis.

Alston Asks 37-Year-Old Robinson To Put Fire Into Dragging Dodgers

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Here they are in mid-season, and the Dodgers are still waiting for one of their big guys to get hot.

The World Champions remain in the thick of things only because the Reds, Braves and Cardinals showed no more early foot than they did.

The tip-off on the Brooks is that Randy Jackson, who was supposed to bat eighth, is batting fourth.

Another is that Walter Alston called on the 37-year-old Jackie Robinson to light a fire under them.

"We've been a little dead on our feet at times," says Manager Alston.

Robinson was doing his utmost to put the breath of life in the dying Dodgers as a first baseman when Del Ennis ran into him as he caught an inside throw and jammed his left elbow.

Walker's, VFW, Raleigh Win Kiwanis Games

By David Nelson

Upsets were the rule in Kiwanis league baseball Monday as Walker's Cleaners downed the Cubs, 9-8; Raleigh edged Gibbons, 10-9, and VFW defeated Social Brethren, 12-7.

Thirteen walks by Cub pitchers, who allowed only four base hits, gave Walker's a 9-8 victory. The winners won the game in the last of the seventh when they tallied five times on four walks and one safety. For Walker's at the plate, Pavelonis, Cannon, Potter and Sprott singled once, and Stiles and Betz had two safe blows each for the Cubs. Hodson was the winning pitcher and Lambert took the loss.

Taylor pitched a four-hitter and struck out eight as Raleigh nosed out Gibbons, 10-9. G. Woolard led the winners at bat with a homer and single while J. Woolard also picked up two safe blows. For Gibbons at bat, C. Meadows homered and B. Meadows, Kihlmire and Darrar had one base hit apiece. Fleming was the losing pitcher, giving up 10 runs on six hits and 11 bases on balls.

VFW moved into a tie with Crab Orchard for third place in the Three-I league race, as they came from behind to beat Social Brethren, 12-7. The winners tallied nine runs in a big second inning on seven hits after Social Brethren had scored all of their runs in the first. Biggs led the winners at the plate with three safe blows, while Proffitt banded out two safeties. Carman homered and singled and Cline and Carnett singled twice each for the losers. Biggs was the winning pitcher with Stricklin the loser.

Southern Cal Alumni Urges Trojans Quit PCC Unless Penalty Modified

LOS ANGELES (AP) — University of Southern California alumni today proposed that unless presidents of Pacific Coast Conference schools modify the penalty against their school the Trojans should leave the conference.

Although dozens of secret meetings of alumni groups both of UCLA and Southern California were reported, no overt steps were taken by the graduates who for the time pinned their hopes on the stand of USC's President Fred D. Fagg Jr.

Fagg said as a member of the president's council he will propose a "re-examination of all sanctions taken against member schools—particularly individual athletes who have not been responsible for the present situation."

Public indignation was indicated by the action of the Los Angeles Herald-Express, which printed a ballot on its front page for readers to vote on the question "Should SC and UCLA quit PCC?" Feelings against the conference had been high when UCLA was slapped with fines of $95,000, banned from the Rose Bowl for three years and penalized a year of eligibility for all its football players.

But the feeling of bitterness reached a new high with the week-end announcement Southern California had been fined $63,400, banned from the Rose Bowl for two years and 42 of its football squad members penalized a year's eligibility.

With the $25,000 fine levied against California and the $32,000 assessed against Washington, the conference has slapped fines of $235,000 against the four schools.

"If the conference refuses to adopt a new, realistic program, I say we should get out," declared Jim Hardy, former star quarterback for the Trojans and later in the National Pro Football League.

All-America halfback Jon Arnett, expected to be the mainstay of the 1956 team, bitterly declared he would never recommend to a youngster that he enter a PCC school. Arnett believes he is among those hit by the eligibility ban and said if it's true he may go to Canada to play pro ball.

Stan Musial Is Honored as Baseball Player of Decade

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stan (The Man) Musial was honored Monday as the Baseball player of the decade.

The St. Louis Cardinal slugger, who will appear in his 13th All-Star game Tuesday—more than any other player—was given a replica of a grandfather's clock being engraved in St. Louis.

The award, by the Sporting News, was made at a Washington Touchdown Club lunch.

Gordon Named to Manage Seals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Joe Gordon, who quit in disgust 11 days ago as coach of the strifetorn Detroit Tigers, took on a fresh headache today as manager of the six-place San Francisco Seals.

The former New York Yankee infield star replaced Eddie Joost Monday as pilot of the Pacific Coast League club shortly after Joost was given the bounce by the parent Boston Red Sox.

"We feel we weren't getting the full potential out of the club," said President Jerry Donovan.

Paul Richards Says He Intends To Keep Managing

BOSTON (AP)—Paul Richards, general and field manager of the Baltimore Orioles, made it abundantly clear today he's enjoying his work and intent on keeping both jobs "as long as possible."

Richards also wanted it known his remarks were not to be taken as a knock or damper on the managerial aspirations of his third baseman, George Kell—the rumored next bench boss of the Birds.

"It's as simple as this," said Richards, his pinch face unsmiling. "I enjoy working in this dual capacity and I hope to do so as long as possible."

At least part of that desire lies in the fact that he has affected a complete player change the past year or more and wants a direct hand in guiding the destinies of the "new Orioles."

Richards once again denied the persistent rumor that Kell went to Baltimore from the Chicago White Sox in a recent deal with the understanding he would soon step in as Orioles field manager with Richards sticking to the general managership.

However, he left one opening for conjecture when he added, "I might be looking for a job myself after next year." Richards' contract expires following the 1957 season.

The game promises to be a good one and local fans are invited to attend.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service

In central Illinois are many memorial to Abraham Lincoln. One universal feature in the scores of Lincoln portraits is the kindness of his eyes. Artists may depict the other features of the man in varying ways, but all have caught the patience and the kindness of a character whose influence will live for many generations.

This influence is a silent force which seems to move people who live and work under the almost seeing eyes pictured on the canvas. The influence is not unconscious. These people frankly admit the feeling of friendship casting its spell over their lives.

A waitress serving diners in a large hotel dining room feels the influence and is very kind to little children who are not always welcome guests in sedate dining rooms. She gives a friendly word to the lonely guest who enters as a stranger.

So, too, do the waiters and waitresses throughout the nation, but here under the silent eyes of Lincoln the service is given with a smile and with a touch of the living kindness of a man whose presence will not soon depart.

Even if the condition is only coincidence, it is well to realize that the influence of all of us makes an impact on other people. If we are devoted to God and live according to His wishes, our influence for good will be felt. Others, too, will want to walk in the way of God Himself.

Jobs in Nation
At Record High

WASHINGTON — The government reported today that more Americans held jobs in June than ever before.

The total was 66,503,000, up nearly 1,300,000 from May. It was about 1,055,000 better than the previous all-time high of 65,448,000 in August of last year, a joint Commerce-Labor departments report said. The increase was attributed to "young summer workers" getting jobs.

Unemployment, which usually rises in June as high school and college students and graduates begin looking for summer and permanent work, rose 300,000 to 2,900,000. This was about 4.2 per cent of the 69,430,000 civilians 14 years old and older who are able to work.

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. astounding statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your drugstore. Money back guarantee.

Trichologist F. A. Cherry will be in Harrisburg to demonstrate the most successful hair and scalp treatment known to science. Staff Trichologist DenAdel is pictured above.

SCALP EXPERT COMING HERE TO REVEAL SECRET OF SAVING HAIR

If you are worried about falling hair, scaly dandruff, itchy scalp, or kindred disorders, F. A. Cherry, nationally known trichologist and authority on hair and scalp, may put your mind at ease. He will conduct personal demonstrations in his suite at the Colonial Hotel in Harrisburg Thursday, July 12.

Science has found the way to end those troublesome disorders, says Trichologist Cherry. No longer need you suffer the embarrassment of dandruff, the torment of itching, the haunting fear that you may infect other members of your family with your scalp troubles. In fact, even baldness may now be remedied in the great majority of cases; the mere presence of a light colorless fuzz is indication of life in the hair roots, which may be restored by proper care.

While in Harrisburg Mr. Cherry will give FREE complete hair and scalp examinations. After one of these free private examinations he is able to tell the individual just what is wrong, and what treatments are needed to return the scalp and hair to a healthy condition. "I wish I could say there is no such thing as a hopeless case," says Trichologist Cherry.

"Fortunately such cases are extremely rare. They are usually characterized by slick shiny baldness." When a private examination indicates that the case is beyond help, Trichologist Cherry reveals the truth without hesitation, believing that it is better for the individual to know the facts, than to live in false hope. However, he explains, that amazing results are being achieved all over America with cases which might appear hopeless to any but the skilled technician.

GUARANTEED
Vir-Bet, Inc., the firm of consultants with which Trichologist Cherry is associated, will accept no case for treatment unless the examining expert feels that satisfactory results can be absolutely guaranteed. "If at the end of 30 days you are not completely satisfied, your money will be refunded," the company guarantees without equivocation. "There will be no argument, no unpleasantness. You MUST be satisfied."

In his demonstration here, Trichologist Cherry will describe the 18 most frequent causes of scalp disorders. He issues this warning to all who are interested: "If a recession appears at the temple, or a spot begins to show at the crown of the head something is wrong. It could be functional, organic, or of nervous origin."

FREE EXAMINATION
Besides re-examining present clients, Trichologist Cherry will demonstrate methods of treatment to those needing expert help and guidance. He will occupy a suite of rooms in the Colonial Hotel, Thursday, July 12.

Learn what help you may expect for your hair and scalp problems, no matter how troublesome or hopeless they may seem to you.

YOU NEED NOT HAVE AN APPOINTMENT
No appointment is necessary to receive the services of this clinic. Just ask for Trichologist Cherry at the Colonial Hotel, Thursday, July 12, from noon to 9 P. M. The examination is private. There is no embarrassment and no obligation in any way. Both men and women are welcome.

Russia Has Not Ouldistanced U. S. In Air Power, Twining Tells Senale

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining said today that the Russians have made "undeniable strides" in development of modern war planes but "have not outdistanced us."

The Air Force chief of staff added, however, that his eight-day visit to Russia "substantially strengthened our previous assessments that the U.S.S.R., while certainly not abreast of us today, can and is progressive narrowing the technological lead of the West generally and of the United States in particular."

Twining cautioned that with the heavy emphasis the Russians are placing on technical education, the United States must "reckon on the possibility of their achieving a scientific breakthrough and consequent technological surprise in new weapons."

The Air Force general called for a boost in U. S. research and development spending to protect our "qualitative lead" over Russia.

Twining reported to the Senate

Armed Services Committee in secret session on his recent inspection trip of Russian air power. A 31-page summary of his report was released to reporters.

Twining said his trip was too limited and controlled "to provide a basis for any substantial revision of previous estimates" of Soviet air power.

"I want to make it unequivocally clear that our findings do not justify any hasty action to write down, or for that matter, to write up our previous assessments of Soviet air power," he said.

Twining added, however, that our visit did have the positive effect of strengthening our previous judgment that the rate of progress and improvement in Soviet air weapons—backed by a massive scientific and industrial effort—is such as to give us cause for serious thought about the future."

Congress Passes Narcotics Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has approved and sent to President Eisenhower a compromise bill drastically tightening penalties for narcotic violators. It includes the death sentence in some cases.

The bill would set up a new scale of mandatory jail penalties for persons convicted of selling narcotic drugs or marijuana and forbids probation, suspensions of sentence or paroles to convicted sellers.

It would authorize a jury to impose the death sentence for any person convicted of selling or giving heroin to youngsters under 18.

The House approved the bill unanimously Monday without debate. Less than three hours later, the Senate passed it by voice vote. The final measure was a compromise between earlier House and Senate versions.

The bill would increase present jail and fine penalties for possessors of narcotics.

Help Fight Mental Illness, Bettag Urges Teachers

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—State Welfare Director Dr. Otto L. Bettag today urged Illinois teachers to become "front line fighters" in the battle against mental illness.

Bettag addressed the annual college of education conference at Southern Illinois University.

Teachers themselves must be emotionally stable and well adjusted, Bettag said, and predicted that applicants for teachers' positions ultimately will be required to meet good mental health standards.

Bettag called upon local communities to develop local resources to which teachers can refer children whose classroom behavior indicates need for psychological help.

"The prevention of mental illness and the building of sound mental health in our citizens," he said, "is more important than improved methods of caring for and treating mental illness as important as that is."

He said Illinois is now giving direct treatment or care to more
